Sir,

The following is a translation of an extract from the Deutsche Zeitung fur China of December 6th 1916:-

"Beginning next month a new Chinese daily newspaper will be issued which will be called the Min Te Pao 民德報. Preparations for the publication of the paper have already been made by the Editorial Department in a building at the Chang Su Ho's gardens (張蘇何). The Printing machines are expected to arrive shortly."

General Yang will visit the Szechuen Guild at 10 a.m. today and will offer sacrifice before the coffin containing the remains of the late General Tsai Oo on behalf of President Li Yuen Hung.

The masters and employees of the bean curd shops in Shanghai met in a teashop at 185 Canton Road at 3 p.m. 6th inst and later had dinner together in a restaurant on Canton Road. They discussed ways and means to raise funds to build a Guild. Although it was previously reported that the employees intended to demand a higher wage, this subject was not mentioned.

Zung Tsung Hyui 鍾宗憲 who arrived here recently from Canton has retained Dr. Kreig as his medical adviser.

Another performance was given in the Kiukiang Road theatre last night in aid of the destitute rebels. The house was again full.
